

RIFLES FOR WATIE

CHAPTER 2

Bess runs from the house screaming & then goes & gets free-state friends to help (2)	Jeff gets knocked unconscious from the bushwhackers (2)	Emory Bussey verbally stands up to the men as they hold a gun on him (1)
Ring attacks the rear of one of the bushwhackers & chases them down the road (1)	Edith Bussey dumps beans one of the bushwhackers	Mary Bussey dumps hot water from the fire on one of the bushwhackers
Jeff Bussey unties the horses as he is told & ponders how to help his family	the bushwhackers demand food & Emory Bussey allows the men in his home	Jeff convinces his dad to consent to his enlistment in the volunteer army
Jeff punching the bushwhacker	boiled green beans	Bess running out of the Bussey home yelling
Jeff gripping a haying hook in his hands	Ring close at the bushwhacker's heels	Jeff tying the mules' ropes to the stalls
hay hook hitting the bushwhacker in the chest	2 bushwhackers	the free state men howl of pain	Jeff guides the mules to the corral	Emory Bussey was sitting in the chair scared big bushwhacker stood behind the smaller bushwhacker	bushwhacker's clothes ripped	Bess holds Jeff back from going into the house

Emory Bussey looked at his lame foot knowing he couldn't go to war himself	water running down Jeff's ear	Bess moved to comfort her mom
spurs on their boots	Emory Bussey had dropped an anvil on his foot	90-pound dog anchored to his pants
snatched a pan of hot water & threw it on the larger bushwhacker	Jeff's mom's began to sob	